Permission for registering Japanese Language Course

The University-wide Japanese Program is available for international students, visiting researchers and faculty members at Nagoya University, with the aim of providing participants with the Japanese language skills they need to live, study and work in Japan. We (ILC(International Language Center)) have decided only to permit enrollment if the participant is able to attend classes through to the end of the course (the 4th February in the case of the Autumn semester).

Therefore, if your advisee wishes to enroll in a course, please confirm that they are able to attend the course until the end, before giving your permission.
